Inspector Williams, who is as famous a policeman in his way as Byrnes himself, is credited with knowing all the ins and outs of this business, and to be able to tell some things about the coming doings when these investigations are resumed that would make "mighty interestin' readin'." However, he keeps his own counsel and general uncertain-

But the Parkhurst brigade have heard the rumors, and according to a letter from the doctor himself, there must be no cessation of inquisitorial activity until all the corruption in high places is revealed. Dr. Parkhurst and Inspector Williams belong to the same political party, but their personal reons are far from cordial. Inspector Williams is accused of having found out in some mysterious manner the secrets of the Parkhurst crusaders and to have passed around the "tip." The situntion just now is very much like a complicated game of chess and both sides must play carefully to win. The police are by no means without reers may learn to their cost.

One of the charges now going the rounds is that the police have sought damaging information about the past of some of the investigators and mean to hold it over their heads as a sort of bostage to discretion.

The sally made a hit and its repetition resulted in a general bestowal of hair restorers on the senator, who thereupon declared that the greatest men in history, from Caesar to Bismarck, have been more or less destitute of hair. Some one, history is silent in the matter of his name, asked the senator if his recent support of Mr. Cleveland was based upon any such consideration. The laugh that ensued was conceded to be at the senator's expense. And Mr. Hill took it all in that suave, calm way of his which more than anything else, makes for him

There are many New Yorkers interested in Japanese railroad projects, and investors here look forward with interest to the movements of the oriental. It appears that the Tokio government has had differences with various chartered concerns which have been treated rather cavalierly in the readjustment of interests that ensued upon government control of railways.

the father of his country which is to adorn the pedestal in front of the glorious new capitol of the state of Washington. The statue is certainly the mest conspicuous object on all Wall street, but it is a noteworthy fact that in recent years the famous financial thoroughfare has been losing much of its monetery prestige. This is owing to the dread of the street by bankers who do a large business throughout the country. They fear the impression produced by an investment concern in any way assoself has been given an ominous association by the stream of invective hurled against it. When Grover Cleveland retired from the presidency he would under no consideration retain his law office on Wall street, and this discretion is imitated by the many statesmen who have occasion to open offices near the financial center of the metropolis. As a consequence, the father of his country, whose gaze is directed away from Wall street, sees rows of stately edifices, whose occupants have deserted his own thoroughfare for one that is less suggestive of the dog that was given a bad name. I went to see a three-ring circus one day, and while I was there it struck me that if, I put a variety show on the road withstwo separate and distinet turns going on at the same time the people would be tickled with it and I would make money. I figured it out that there are many times when a man goes to a variety show and yawns through a turn because he has seen it before or something of the kind. Now, if there were two turns going on the man could look at the other one, you know, and would come away saying it was a great show. It would be only occasionally we would strike a man who would be bored by two turns at the same time. The plan seemed a tiptopper, and I got a partner who had money and we started to putdt into execution. We hired a lot of people and put on a show that was a pretty good one. We had eighteen turns, and we ran them two at a time. For instance, if there was a serio-comic on the stage we would have a trapeze act from the dome of the theater, and things went along as if they had been greased. The partner I had was a man who had never been in the show business before, and he didn't know a great deal about it, as a matter of course. Seeing that he had put up the money, I let him have a few woods to say about the front of the house. On the fifth night out we had a row and the show busted then and there. Since then I have never found anyone who would go into the scheme." "What was the row about?" asked the Buffalo Express reporter. "Oh, my partner was in the box-office and he tried to make a cross-eyed man pay double, claiming that he could see both turns at once and would get twice his money's worth. The cross-eyed man wouldn't have it, and there was a fight. That fight

THE ANSWER HAS BEEN FOUND

Evidence That Even Impure Vegetables and Tainted Meat are Not So Bad as Food Undigested.

There has been a great deal said in the papers about adulterated foods. Every large city has a board of health that carefully inspects the fruit and vegetables that come into the city. This is all very well, but it does not reach the source of the trouble, from which men and women suffer. No food is healthy if it is not digested. If the sweetest and freshest vegetables form acid or gas in timit. Those purchasing Great Rock the stomach they are poisonous. A stand Route tickets will not be obliged to deposit them in Pittsburg, will not require deposit them in Pittsburg, will not require ach that is not and cannot be digested,

If not, any food will in jure and poison.

It is here that science has come to the rescue. The discovery of a process of artificially digested food has actually been made to the rescue that the science has come to the pleasure in store for you. Bear in mind in order to secure these advantages that your rickets about the science of the been made so that the stomach becomes relieved of the necessity of overwork. and so that perfect digestion can take place without effort. The discovery of this pre-digested food has aroused a great deal of attention in medical and cientific circles, and now that it is being manufactured and put up in a form so that people can obtain it, it has worked a revolution in the subject of foods. It is known to the public as Paskola. Increased weight, freedom from dyspepsia, and the pleasing sensation of healthy acting organs are certain to be found by all who use this great predigested food.

This has been strikingly illustrated in the case of Mrs. Charles Bock, who resides at No. 284 24th street, Detroit, Mich. She said:

"I had been feeling sick for five months. My strength and flesh were so tearfully reduced that I could not leave my room for weeks. My appetite wa poor and it seemed as though I could not find anything that would restore my strength, appetite or health. My complexion was very sallow during this time, my sunken eyes were surrounded by deep, black circles, and my nervous system was so badly shattered that the faintest noise would send me into hys-

"One day while I was suffering very much and felt pretty despondent my busband brought me a bottle of that great pre-digested food Paskola. I com-menced its use and in four days I not only ate heartily, but I gained sufficient strength to leave my room and look after my usual duties. By the time the first bottle was consumed. I had gained first bottle was consumed I had gamed five pounds, the circles disappeared from around my eyes, and my complexion showed a marked improvement. WORLD'S CARNIVAL CITY.

The successful series of carnival seasons inaugurated by the citizens of St. Louis some fifteen years ago, continue as ever for the season of 1894, and from the morning of September 5 to the evening of October 30 the city will be one scene of gayety and splendor. Many new, novel and unique features have been added to the long list of standing attractions, and from every point of view this reign of high carnival will outshine all previous attempts. The St. Louis exposition, the only one of its kind in the United States that has lived year after year with flattering results, will throw open its doors to the public September 5th, and remain in a state of
